NO WAGE REDUCTION IS CONTEMPLATED

There is no reduction in wages contemplated in the mines and mills of the Tonopah and Divide districts. This is made plain in a statement that appears in another section of this paper which states clearly the position of the mine operators.

Reports have been in circulation for some time that another cut in wages was contemplated in this district. The stories were brought into circulation by the "wobbly" element and have been known to keep under cover but the mine operators have not been able to keep the matter quiet. The mine operators have not been able to keep the matter quiet.

We are now experiencing here in Tonopah and the surrounding districts a great deal of adversity and the employees and employers are working to perfect harmony and any attempt on the part of trouble makers to create dissension will be met with a strong rebuke. The mine operators will not permit anyone to bring in the strike that they attempt to bring in the strike of any kind and will be glad to give the reason for the strike that they are found working in the mine.

Miners have been treated by a kind of "wobbly" from Butte and there have been attempts to breed dissension among the miners. The mine operators have not been able to keep the matter quiet. The mine operators have not been able to keep the matter quiet.

Peace and harmony is prevailing in this district, and it will continue to prevail if the good citizens all working together have anything to say in the premises, and they certainly are going to have a say in the future. The operators are satisfied with conditions as they now exist, and so are the mine and mill workers, and any attempt at spreading propaganda in an effort to create discord should receive no tolerance at the hands of the good people of Tonopah, but on the other hand extreme measures should be reported to, if necessary.

The Bonanza trusts that the statement of the Mine Operators Association will be received in the same spirit that it is issued, and that this idle rumor of pending difficulties may be met with a prompt rebuke by the men who are doing so much toward making this community the leading mining district of the world.

GOLDFIELD PROSPERITY IS MOST PLEASING

It is pleasing indeed to every resident of southern Nevada, as well as those who have had the pleasure of living at some time or another, in Goldfield, to watch the strides of rejuvenation that have manifested themselves of late in the former great gold camp. That Goldfield is staging a comeback in real earnest seems to be the opinion of those versed in the mining industry, and especially those familiar with what was for years termed the richest gold district in the world.

The wonderful mineral find that was recently made on the Silver Pick property is now conceded by mining engineers and geologists to possess potential possibilities in view of the fact that it has been determined that the ore vein on the Red Top runs parallel with the great finds made during the early history of the camp. In other words, mining men express the unqualified opinion that the footwall of the series of veins is now being exploited, and it need prove no surprise to learn at any time that future discoveries will result in the past production being at least doubled.

Residents of Goldfield are in an optimistic frame of mind and are looking forward with great interest to the days when the camp will assume its former luster of activity in a mining and business way. Mining properties are becoming in demand, and important transactions are being made with great frequency. Valuation on business and residence properties, which a short time ago could be purchased for a song, are rapidly advancing, and if the improvement continues in the mines receiving attention with such satisfying success, it should not be a great while until Goldfield will again occupy the attention of the investing public in no uncertain way.

Let it be hoped that Goldfield may again become the greatest gold producing center of the west. That camp and Tonopah are so closely related that what helps one section is bound to help the other, and with both camps outputting bullion in great quantities southern Nevada as a whole will be benefited, and our prosperity will gain momentum as the southern section will be the mainstay of the whole state.

UNITED STATES SUFFERS FROM PROPAGANDISTS

The United States is propagandized today as it never was before.

Not even when Mr. Cress was running his department of "public information" for the benefit of the Wilson administration were the people of America, and the newspapers in particular, so bombarded. Anybody who wants anything, whether in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America or the big ends of creation, makes a plea to the people of the United States, generally for financial aid, frequently for political help, and sometimes for actual warfare. "Emancipators" and "liberators" and special emissaries from the country. Magazines, books and pamphlets flood the mail. Special writers litter the desks and eventually the waste baskets of editors with "exclusive articles," for some of which they even have the effrontery to ask money. Agents of all sorts and degrees of sobriety pervade the country, and a part of the work they do is clever enough to deceive temporary government officials and veteran copy handlers, while the inexperienced pass over their wealth as though they were lambs in Wall Street. Efforts are even made to use the government, and make Congress a tool for the furtherance of foreign political plots, schemes and plans. More than this, when Washington or the country at large shows any decided disposition to balk, and declines to be a general "good thing," America becomes a target for abuse. The would-be exploiters can not seem to understand how we dare to resent or balk their efforts to "do" us.

Lately the government has developed a very welcome and business-like disposition to demand that it be "shown" when assistance or concessions or favors are asked from it, and this is going to help a good deal from now on. It will be a good thing, too, if the American people as a whole will develop a more or less "hard boiled" attitude, and while continuing quick to respond to legitimate appeals and to pleas from real sufferers, will make pretty certain they know what they are doing before going down into their pockets, books or giving endorsements. In fact, things have reached a pass where America simply must protect itself from adventuring and hobo organizations and governments.

HOUSE CLEANING IS COMMENDABLE

President Harding is to be commended for his efforts, though belated, perhaps, because of the attention he has had to devote to the big work of clearing up the Wilson mud in international affairs. In cleaning out the nests of partisans Wilson, Bryan, McAdoo, Burleson and the rest of the Wilson outfit so carefully and assiduously built in the federal service.

There is double sanction for this work. One is that the American people commissioned the Harding administration, with an unequivocal demand, to bring about a complete change in national management. The other is that with this commission came another to effectuate a needed program of economy and efficiency.

A good start has been made in various departments, the latest in the bureau of engraving, over which some of the democratic spoliars are shedding so many crocodile tears, being merely an incident. But, there is a great deal of work yet to do in dislodging the Wilson machine holders of important key positions, which control numbers of subordinate jobs. In the internal revenue department there is a large amount of necessary nest cleaning overdue. It is to be hoped that this work will proceed apace. As for the crocodile tears shed by Senators Harrison, Stanley, Caraway and others in behalf of civil service, let no one worry. If Mr. Bryan, who initiated the plundering of federal appointive jobs in the diplomatic service until it became a shame and a disgrace, could only be induced to join in the lameness of the music would be complete. It is funny how some democratic are in behalf of the civil service when it operates to keep a democrat in a job and equally amusing how indifferent they are about it when, as was the case when Wilson and Bryan took hold, it comes to turning out a republican.

DEMOCRAT WAR AN OPEN BREAK

All is not well with the democratic party. Harmony and contentment do not dwell within its organization. Fraternality does not exist among its leaders; neither is there unanimity among them regarding the policies of the party. The Jefferson Birthday banquet held in New York City, which was to have been not only a feat of democratic reason, but an occasion for presenting a unified front to the opposition on the eve of a congressional election, proved to be anything but what the advance notices advertised. The aftermath shows the occasion to have caused even a greater schism in the party that existed before, and a greater feeling of disgust among the prominent democrats whose aggressive cooperation is absolutely essential to the democratic organization if it is to make any sort of a showing in the coming years.

The most disturbing incident of the Jefferson Day affair was a telegram purporting to have come from former President Wilson. It has since developed that Mr. Wilson did not either write the telegram or know of its being written. Its author was Joseph Tumulty and he just "made up" a telegram which he thought ex-President Wilson might have written. Back of this is the fact that Tumulty and his crowd are endeavoring to line up former Wilson adherents behind the banner of Mr. Cox as against Mr. McAdoo. There has been bad blood between Tumulty and McAdoo dating back to the days before Mr. McAdoo left the cabinet. But that is another story. Sufficient unto the day is the democratic trouble thereof. The McAdoo-Cox fight has now broken out afresh as a result of the Tumulty fake telegram.

Most any historical event can be interpreted by the modern classical dancer. Of course the dancer is the only one who knows what she is trying to interpret, although most of the audience run no chances, simply calling it "The Battle of Bull's Run."
